Hello, welcome to Ancholme Gardens

If you're thinking about your next move, Ancholme Gardens in Brigg could be just the place for you.

Ancholme Gardens is one of our Retirement Living schemes, right in the heart of this historical market town.

This is the perfect place for you if you're looking for a sociable, modern home, where there are lots of regular planned events – making the most of the brilliant shared spaces available.

You will of course have your own modern home with all the features you would expect – your own front door, kitchen, bathroom, bedroom and living room. All of the sociable shared areas are easily accessible from each of the apartments.

Ancholme Gardens is suitable for those who enjoy their independence but would still like to be part of a friendly community. It has all the additional features including level access throughout, lifts and assisted bathing facilities, designed to make this the perfect home for life.
