Supporting Vulnerable Residents and Community Events Through Social Value

Project overview

Roy Nicholson Ltd have demonstrated its commitment to supporting local communities through both financial contributions and practical assistance for vulnerable residents. Through a donation to the Ongo Carnival and emergency repair works carried out for a tenant in need, the company have delivered meaningful social value that has had a direct and lasting impact on local people.

Partnership in action

Roy Nicholson Ltd have developed a positive working relationship with Ongo through a shared commitment to supporting customers and communities beyond contractual requirements. By responding to community needs and providing additional support where it is most needed, Roy Nicholson Ltd continues to demonstrate the importance of partnership working in delivering positive outcomes for residents.

Their recent support for the Ongo Carnival and assistance provided to a vulnerable tenant highlights a proactive approach to social value and community investment.

Addressing local priorities

Supporting vulnerable residents and creating opportunities for community engagement remain key priorities across Ongo communities. Some residents face significant health challenges that can make it difficult to maintain their homes or address essential repairs, while community events play an important role in bringing people together, reducing isolation and strengthening neighbourhood connections.

The support provided by Roy Nicholson Ltd addressed both of these needs by helping to fund a community event and ensuring essential repair works were completed for a vulnerable tenant whose circumstances made it difficult to resolve the issue independently.

Delivering social value

Roy Nicholson Ltd delivered social value through two key initiatives:

- A £250 donation towards the Ongo Carnival, helping support a community event that brings residents together and promotes community cohesion.
- The assessment and repair of an unsafe lean-to structure at the home of a vulnerable Ongo tenant with significant health issues. Whilst initially asked to assess the condition of the structure, Roy Nicholson Ltd chose to undertake the necessary work as a social value contribution, recognising the tenant's circumstances and the potential risks posed by the deteriorating structure.

By donating both time and resources, the company helped improve safety, wellbeing and community engagement for local residents.

Using the HACT Social Value approach, the donation and practical support provided by Roy Nicholson Ltd generated an estimated £7,700 of social value. This reflects the positive impact created through community investment, support for a vulnerable resident, improved safety and enhanced wellbeing, demonstrating how targeted social value activity can deliver significant benefits for local people.

Outcomes and community impact

The support provided by Roy Nicholson Ltd resulted in positive outcomes for both individuals and the wider community.

The contribution towards the Ongo Carnival helped ensure the continued delivery of a valued community event, creating opportunities for residents to connect, participate in activities and strengthen relationships within their neighbourhood.

The emergency repair work carried out at the tenant's property removed a significant safety concern and provided peace of mind for a resident who would have been unable to undertake the work themselves due to ongoing health issues. The intervention improved the safety and condition of the property while helping the tenant maintain their independence and quality of life.

Sustainable Impact

The benefits delivered through these initiatives will continue beyond the completion of the work. The repair of the lean-to has created a safer living environment for the tenant, reducing future risks and supporting their long-term wellbeing.

Meanwhile, the Ongo Carnival continues to provide opportunities for residents to come together, build stronger community connections and access support within their local area.

Through relatively simple but targeted interventions, Roy Nicholson Ltd has demonstrated how social value can make a meaningful difference to both individuals and communities.
